ACCOUNTED FOR.—As Mr. Gladstone is eager to obtain plaudits, his actions lately necessarily been fishy!

NEWSPAPERS speak of California and you as the "Pacific slave-trade!"

THE CHILDREN'S CRUSADE.—In the summer of 1213 a boy was noticed wandering from town to town in France. His hand was never stretched out for alms, nor his voice subdued into the beggar's whine. He clung not to the mountebank or the pedagogue. Neither did he carry either of the "unfortunate" passports—the palmer's staff, or the gleum-headed cane. Unlike each and all of these, his voice was sweet and his conduct irreproachable. Wherever he went he chanted the words, "Lord Jesus, we have built the Holy Cross" "paising only in hushful fervent prayer. In a little time he was universally revered as the messenger of Heaven, and happy was that village whose churchwarden he deemed to take in his lodging. But soon the people began to craze and deepen the awe with which they were everywhere regarded. And truly effect of his example was appalling. At once a strange infatuation seized on the boys of the same age. No sooner were they heard in any town or hamlet, than they ran out to meet him, with crock, and accompanied him, whether he wished it placed him to direct his course, and bars were used to restrain them, and prayers to turn them from their purpose. They hastened to quit father, home, everything that was dearest, follow this strange leader, and chant with him, "Lord Jesus, give us back the Holy Cross!" They followed him by twentys, hundreds, by thousands. Every day they led the throng, until at length no city could consent to receive them within its walls. Having gathered this great host, they directed its march towards the shores of the Mediterranean. Himself led the way, clothed in a charnel linen with cloaks. A rumour spread of his countless throng chanting, "Lord Jesus, give us back the Holy Cross!" And every instant they became weaker to death, as they struggled for a place nearest to their leader's car, for being placed there was envied exceedingly who should touch his person or gather a thread of his robe. In the end the whole of the multitude perished on the land or in the sea.—Child Magazine.

CHINA AND JAPAN.
 A MONTHLY MEDIUM OF INTER-COMMUNICATION FOR Professional and Literary Men,
 Missionaries and Residents in the East generally.
 EDITED BY N. B. DENNY.

PRICE $6 PER ANNUM.

Opinions of the Press.
 (Fochow Advertiser, May 4, 1867.)
 We have received a copy of "Notes and Queries," this publication will be really useful, it contains much matter relating to China which otherwise would be lost, and we wish it every success. Sinologists, Chinese antiquaries and scientific men ought especially to congratulate themselves on the appearance of "Notes and Queries," as it will form their medium of communication and bring into notice what otherwise might have lain unknown and buried in themselves. Now that Lear and Occident have got their Gazette, Science and Philology then Notes and Queries, and Missionaries then Recorder, the various divisions of mental thought and work in this land ought to be well taken care of; for our part we are glad to see these several issues, both on account of the information and instruction they afford, and the index they supply to the mental vigour of the foreign community in this land.

(Fochow Missionary Recorder, April, 1867.)
 The two first numbers of Notes & Queries on China and Japan have been placed on our table. The magazine is every way creditable to its editor and publishers, and we cannot but wish them the utmost success in their efforts to fill an important and hitherto neglected place in Eastern literature.

(Singapore Free Press, Mar. 2, 1867.)
 We have received the first number not least little pamphlet of eight pages entitled "Notes and Queries on China and Japan," containing some able and interesting historical papers on China, together with notes and numerous queries for future contributors to answer, and states that the number of its pages will depend upon the number and length of its contributions. The work will be received with eagerness by literary men, as throwing light upon the ancient traditions of China, with researches into the laws of the various provinces, and the custom of the people.

(Shanghai Recorder, May 17, 1867.)
 We are put in possession of the fourth number of "Notes and Queries on China and Japan." In saying that the present issue equals in interest and importance its predecessors, we have already said great deal in its favour. Our knowledge of these countries has hitherto been scattered, so ill-arranged, and so incomplete, in a series of works, in different languages, and spreading in point of time, over the last two centuries, that some means of separating what is really new, from what has possibly been over and over again described is much to be desired. As a medium of intercommunication on these and many other subjects of interest to those connected with the far East, we must hail the appearance of "Notes and Queries." We need only add that the periodical is of convenient size, is carefully edited by Mr. N. B. Denney, and is published at the low price of $4 per annum; and hereby said this, we trust that "Notes and Queries on China and Japan" will meet with that success which no creditable production deserves at the hands of those interested in Asiatic researches.

Report of North China Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society.
 March 1867.
 Two periodicals which are likely to be of great service have also been commenced; one is published at Fochow and is called "The Missionary Recorder," and the other at Hongkong and is called "Notes and Queries." It is intended to serve as a medium of intercommunication for persons interested in Chinese Philology, Geography or History. These indications of literary activity are perhaps the most important "sign of the times" has been our province to record, for they are all means to facilitate that mutual understanding one of the other, which seems so hard to establish between Europe and China.

(Hankow Times, Mar. 1867.)
 We insert this week, apropos of some piquant correspondence which has appeared of late in our columns, an extract from the new publication, "Notes and Queries on China and Japan," on the subject of infanticide, which we particularly recommend to the notice of our contributors as containing some reliable facts in connection with the vexed question. Such a work as the "Notes" is peculiarly adapted for bringing to light valuable information in respect to this country, and its people, language, and institutions; and we trust it will be warmly supported as it deserves by the numerous rising and energetic men, who are now, thanks principally to the philological labours of Mr. Secretary Wade, making rapid advance in the acquirement of the languages of the East, and who are now, almost all, to say nothing of the devoted missionaries, having already grown grey in their service to the cause to which they have given themselves.

Opinions of the Press.

From the Englishman (Calcutta) of June 8—
 "The celebrated volumes of the French Abbé Hue on China, and Sir Rutherford Alcock's account of Japan are, no doubt, works of a far higher class and more extensive scope than the one now before us; but for practical utility, for all purposes of locomotion, trading, and residence in any of the places coming within its compass, The Treaty Ports of China and Japan, by Messrs. Mayers, Denney, and King, far surpasses them. It is difficult to know under what class of books to place it, for it contains a mixture of history, topography, hygiene, Murray's hand-book and Bradshaw's Guide,—all as complete and excellent in their own line as could be expected; and though, perhaps, the book will not prove attractive to students, it is calculated to give a more intimate knowledge of the country it describes, aided by the excellent maps which accompany it,—the work entirely of Chinese—than any of the more elaborate works that have preceded it. We trust we have said enough to show that for any one about to visit, or reside in either of the countries described, this work contains not only most valuable information, but many useful hints."
 (N. C. Daily News, May 16.)

A very interesting book has lately been published, entitled, "The Treaty Ports of China and Japan," to which it forms a complete guide, and regarding the history of which it gives interesting particulars. Maps of the various localities described are inserted, and an appendix shows the existing means of transport between Europe and America and these two countries. A work of the kind was much needed, to place within reach of the general public information regarding the districts in which they reside that had hitherto been concealed under the mysterious hieroglyphics of the Chinese language, or at best open only to sinologists. The modest hope expressed by the authors, that much will be found in the present book that is new and unknown to the general reader, is, we think, fully justified. * * * Hongkong and Canton, for example, each occupy more than 100 pages, comprising every conceivable particular regarding them, from their history native and foreign, to particulars of the geological formation and botanical wealth of the neighbourhood. * * * Not the least interesting feature in the book under review, is the insight it affords us into the character of the population in different parts of this vast empire. * * * One of the most interesting chapters is devoted to a sketch of the history and topographical features of Formosa, the vicinities of its history, the peculiarities of its inhabitants, and the reputed mineral wealth of its hills and fertile subject for research; and to a person of Mr. Swinhoe's tastes, must have offered powerful attractions. From his "Notes on Formosa" are derived many of the particulars given in the work under review. * * * Interesting descriptions of the fauna and flora of the island are given, for details of which we refer our readers to the book itself. We have, we believe, said enough to show the value and character of the work; and must take leave of it for the present, though with the intention of completing our sketch of the information it gives regarding the various treaty ports, on a future occasion. In the meantime, we can assure our readers that no one who takes the trouble to gain a more intimate knowledge of it, will regret the time employed.

(Singapore Free Press, May 9.)
 We referred briefly, several days ago, to a new work published by Messrs. A. Shortrede & Co., of Hongkong, entitled "The Treaty Ports of China and Japan." But it would be utterly impossible, in a condensed notice of such a work, to give an adequate idea of its contents. The historical events of interest since the foundation of the settlement of Hongkong, are perhaps too much condensed into a general summary; but the most important feature in the composition of the society of the present colony, is detailed at greater length. When we come to consider that the book before us makes no pretensions to be a history, but merely a guide book, we cannot hesitate to pronounce it at once the most complete work of its kind ever issued. An appendix may be termed the China Bradshaw, and the text teems with interesting papers,—historical, botanical, and descriptive. The maps and plans are useful illustrations of the geographical position of the treaty ports, and a valuable assistance both to travellers and residents.

Shanghai Recorder May 7, and Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, May 11, 1867.
 A very useful book has just been issued from the Press in Hongkong under the title of "Guide Book and Vade-mecum to the Treaty Ports of China and Japan." The book is very conveniently got up; is interspersed with maps of the various treaty ports, and contains, besides much useful local information, historical sketches of much interest. Our readers will feel naturally interested in what is said concerning Shanghai; and a good idea of the history of this place is conveyed in Mr. Denney's work. * * * The other ports in China and also those in Japan are carefully described, and almost all particulars which can be required by the traveller or resident are to be found in this work, which may be justly regarded as the "Murray" for China.

APPENDIX.—Containing Sailing Direc-

Japan Islands; also giving the meanings of Chinese Words occurring in Charts and Sailing Directions; and also a Table of Positions of places on the Chinese and Japanese Coasts.The author in his Preface says:—"The tables in Chap. VII. for estimating prices, measurement of goods, exchanges, &c. have been selected from those constantly in use among the foreign merchants in China.
Those for calculating the prices of tea in dollars or pence have been copied from the more extended tables, by the kind permission of the author, P. Loureiro, Esq. The last section of the same chapter, on "Movements in Bullion," has been prepared and furnished for the Guide by Patrick R.
Harpur, Esq., of the Commercial Bank of India at Hongkong, who has had much experience in the exchange and movements of the precious metals in Eastern Asia.
"The Appendix of Sailing Directions has been reprinted from the "China Pilot."
With short interruptions, the coasts from Singapore to Hakodadi are all described in it; and for the Chinese coasts, the Directions have been improved by the insertion of the Chinese characters for the names of all places that could be ascertained."Orders may be sent through any of the
